BELLE GLADE — PAHOKEE, FL.

THE LONG WAIT hadn't even begun at 5 p.m. Tuesday when Mr. and Mrs. James Humphrey checked in at the Precinct 37 polling place at the Belle Glade American Legion hall to vote, although there was a short line waiting to sign up. The real delay didn't start until three hours when it became apparent computer problems were being experienced at Election Central at Palm Beach International Airport, where computer problems delayed the county tally until 25 hours after the polls closed.

Pahokee to seek more money for water treatment

PAHOKEE—Apparently lacking the qualifications for obtaining a U.S. Farmer Home Administration grant, the city will apply for a second FmHA loan, this one for $345,000, toward building a water treatment plant.

Under a directive from the State Department of Environmental Regulation to upgrade water treatment facilities, the city council was told by consulting engineer, J. R. Sloane at Tuesday night's session that under present conditions the city qualifies for a loan but not a grant.

On Sloane's recommendation that the city take initial steps to secure the maximum amount available to it, commissioners approved preparation of an application for a $345,000 loan in addition to the $245,000 FmHA loan already granted.

Commissioners also learned from Sloane that no state funding is available for waterfront development. He said the state was only approving funding up to $200,000 on the basis of 50 percent coming from matching funds and that it is restricting funding to cases where public lands were in danger of being lost to private interests.

In other business to come before commissioners:

- Approved a bid of $2,900 from Glades Roofing Co. to install a new roof on the Chamber of Commerce Building.

- Received assurance from Dwight Weyant that sets of street and drainage plans drawn up at the city's request two years ago will be provided commissioners at the next session.

Weyant told council he had submitted five sets of the completed plans previously and was under the impression that they were awaiting council approval. He told council he could supply as many additional copies as needed.

- Councilman Noma Norman reported, for the benefit of a group of boys attending the session, that he and Mayor Duncan Padgett had looked at the Bicycle Moto-X track in Clewiston and had written for information on constructing one at the 14-acre park.

- Agreed to set up a workshop to discuss city finances with City Clerk

Betty McCoy.

- Heard a report from Mrs. McCoy that the Mel Tillis Scholarship fund has balance of only $1,100 and that two appointees are needed to serve on the scholarship board.

- Heard a request from Commissioner W. E. McKinstry that the problem of burglar alarms in business establishments being set off inadvertently when locking or unlocking doors be investigated with the possibility of assessing fines for repeated false alarms.

McKinstry said "somebody could get hurt" because of police cars frequently racing to sites of false alarms.

- Heard a report from Mayor Padgett, representing the Prince Theater Committee, that liability insurance had been purchased through Carpenter Milken Insurance, Inc., for $263, with the firm contributing $100 toward the cost and the additional $163 being sought through contributions.

Wallendas to perform here

BELLE GLADE—One of the greatest names in circus history will be here March 24 when the Ron Morris Circus will be sponsored at the Ben Franklin parking lot by the Belle Glade Lions Club.

Carla Wallenda, daughter of Carl

Wallenda, and her daughter, Valentina will be among the performers under the big top, according to Morris.

"They're complete performers," Morris said of the Wallendas. "Carla can work atop a 110 foot sway pole, do tight wire work, stick wire walking, trapeze performing and then do a juggling act in the ring."

Miss Wallenda is one only member of the famed Wallenda family, known for their aerial feats. Her father, Carl, was the premiere tight wire walker until he fell to his death in 1978 while walking a wire between two buildings over a San Juan, Puerto Rico street.

Miss Wallenda told a reporter she was never nervous while doing her own act and couldn't understand why, when she was younger, her father was nervous when she was performing.

That was before her own four children started doing aerial work.

"I get nervous when I watch someone else," she said. "My hands get all sweaty." She said she couldn't stand to watch her children performing on the high wire, although it came natural for them.

"We have wires in the backyard," she said. "Two, four, six feet off the ground and so fourth. My daughter, who's now 9, always was with dad playing around on his wires so finally I told her brother to go make her a pole. She just went out and walked with it right away."

She said she hopes to continue performing for as long as she can

ARC golf tournament to be big

BELLE GLADE—With golfers eyeing the possibility of winning a new car, Belle Glade pro John Wright said Saturday's Annual Glades Area Association for Retarded Citizens (GAARC) Tournament has already attracted 61 entrants who'll be teeing off in a shotgun start at 1 p.m.

"This is definitely one of our big fur," Wright said. He noted that only 68 golfers can be accommodated at the 1 p.m. time but he would continue taking entries and assigning them to an early morning time on the course.

Golfers who haven't signed up yet may do so by calling Wright at the Belle Glade golf course and pro shop at 996-6605. Entrants may sign up their own foursome or Wright will assign them to a foursome. The entry fee is $30 and Wright said that includes a cocktail party and buffet awards party after the tournament is completed.

As an extra incentive to the golfers, they have a chance to win a 1980 Mustang two-door sedan being donated by Lockhart Ford. To win the car, an entrant would have to be the first in the tournament to make a hole in one on the Number Three hole, a par three.

As has happened in the past, the proceeds from the tournament will go to the GAARC. GAARC Director, Tricia Blash said the proceeds are set aside for general operating expenses but if more golfers than usual enter, any overage would be applied to the agency's ongoing drive to raise funds to buy St. Peters Lutheran Church and School on West Canal Street North.

GAARC is attempting to buy the church and school buildings to use for its headquarters. It already houses some of its programs in the building it has been renting for some months.

The building fund goal is $40,000 and Mrs. Blash said a total of $24,341 has been raised and pledged so far. She noted Wedgworth Farms donated $1,500 and Pioneer Growers has donated another $1,000 this week to send the total raised toward 62 percent of the amount needed.

"It's looking good," she said. "There's no doubt in my mind now that we'll raise enough to buy the building. If it isn't the amount

CARLA WALLENDAS, a member of the world-famous Wallenda Family, will be one of the performers working in two acts Mar. 24 when the Belle Glade Lions Club sponsors the Ron Morris Circus.

A NEW MUSTANG could be won Saturday during the GAARC Golf Tournament at the Belle Glade Golf Course if one of the entrants makes a hole in one on the par three number three hole. The car, shown above by Sales Manager Ed Rongione and Salesman Steve Woodard, is being donated by Lockhart Ford.

BACKTALK

As of Wednesday afternoon, Palm Beach County returns in Tuesday's presidential preference primary election were still uncounted due to troubles with computers. BACKTALK went to the Palm Beach Junior College Glades campus to ask the question: What do you think Palm Beach County should do about the voting system that isn't working?

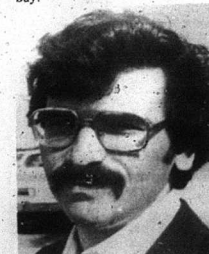

Denise Newton, Belle Glade -- I think we should get some new computers -- better ones especially. And we should have some emergency measures in case of breakdowns.

Beth Alford, Belle Glade -- That's a good question. I feel if we could explain the situation to voters who don't understand. Many don't understand how to read a candidate's summary. The computers are bad but that's really not it.

Wayne Gourley, Lantana (a computer technician) -- You asked a bad one that question: I fix computers. The question is did the county go for the cheapest or for top-notch and they didn't get it. It is the third time it's happened. They've given the computer company a good chance. Maybe they should compare with other counties and go to another computer company and buy.

Barry Russal, Loxahatchee (PBJC faculty) -- I understand there's been a problem before. I confess I don't know if the problem is in the computers or the people running them. I would imagine they need to call in computer experts and have them evaluate the problem.

CRACKER CRUMBS

BY DEAN JONES

Boy, do we raise 'em bad in Belle Glade.

Anybody who's seen Jeff Sims fight, either in his two bouts here Belle Glade or in one of his fights in Miami, know he's got something on the ball. He's big, strong, quick and aggressive. (read that "mean") as a grizzly in the spring.

But when I heard Monday night he'd beat the living you-know-what out of Muhammad Ali... well, that was a bit much.

There it was in the Monday morning paper, though, or at least some of the results of their five-round sparring match in Miami's Fifth Street Gym. Ali had been told to cut out sparring for the next month in his training for a shot at John Tate some six months from now.

Seems "The Lip" was given a fat lip by Belle Glade's own, a fat lip that took ten stitches to close. The doctor who closed up the cut on Ali's lip also said his right eye and right cheek... "were very swollen and he looked like he had been in a good fight."

The word I heard was that the fighting was all done by Sims, who's managed to win all nine of his professional bouts by knockouts.

The word came from Jerry Roberts, who said he went down to Miami with a few other guys and Sims... "I'm a three-time world champion." Sims' retort was to call Ali an Uncle Tom.

The verbal sparring was nothing compared to the real blows, though, as evidence by a picture of Ali in Tuesday's Miami Herald, showing the stitches in his upper lip.

I understand Ali looked pretty good in the first round but after that, it was all Sims, who really came on strong in the third round, when he knocked Ali's mouthpiece out and buckled his knees.

That was where the champ made his first real mistake, refusing to pick up the piece and put it back in his mouth, saying he didn't need it against a bum.

The bum opened the fourth round with two clean shots to Ali's head, then proceeded to work on his body, beating him out of his rope-doper defense and into the corner of the ring, keeping him there for the entire round.

In the fifth ring, the former champ made his second big mistake, moving into the middle of the ring where Sims caught him with a hard one to the mouth that laid open his lip with the cut that cut Ali four weeks of sparring in return for the ten stitches.

Jerry said that was when Ali walked over to the ropes and ended the fight by having the big sparring gloves taken off his fists.

While Ali was still leaning on the ropes, Jerry said someone asked him if Sims was good enough to one day get a shot at the title and Ali simply nodded, his ropes and all.

The sparring match could be the best thing to ever happen to Sims, who was described in one news story this week as being aged 25, going on three because his first 22 years weren't traveled on what you'd call your average gravy train.

Sims got off to a bad start pretty early in life when his mother died, his father left town without leaving a forwarding address and he hit the streets, eventually winding up as a tenant at Glades Correctional Institution after shooting a man to death.

Of such lives are long police records and early deaths made. Sims made a turnaround in GCI, furthering his education, taking lessons in several trades and getting involved in amateur boxing, winning 34 fights with no losses before his release, when he went professional.

Before Saturday, Sims' toughest fight was probably against Tom Prater also from Belle Glade, Jan. 29. He finished Prater on a see Crumbs P3

'City band' des erves support

The amount of help still isn't known but it was encouraging to see the Belle Glade city commission do an about-face Monday night on its earlier decision not to make a direct donation to the Glades Central High School marching band for new uniforms.

The Maroon Machine, as we've said on this page in the past, and as was pointed out during the commission meeting Monday, is, or at least has been used, as the city's own band.

The Glades Central band has provided music in virtually every parade and at every city function, official or unofficial, over the past several years, and it has been almost invariably alone in providing that music.

Whether it was the Belle Glade Bicentennial parade, the 50th Anniversary parade or last year's Black Gold Jubilee parade; whether it was the ground breaking or dedication of the city's new city hall, the dedication of the Chamber of Commerce Building or the three Christmas parades held here several years back, the Glades Central band was on hand when no other band in the area would deign to participate.

This year's version of the Maroon Machine is a particularly good one too. Willie Pyfrom's new big brass sound has been a hit at football games. The band, and 18 members have won superior ratings this year in area competition. The individuals were featured performers last Friday night during a concert that raised $600 towards the new uniforms.

But the band members need help. They've managed to raise $6,000 over the past two years but that's a long way from the $30,000 needed to dress out in new colors.

The band is performing better than ever but the uniforms have been in use for eight long years and they're becoming more than a little threadbare. Entire sections of the band don't even appear in uniform anymore because the uniforms are that bad.

The band is the only one that continually represents Belle Glade as a whole and it's a shame the community's emissaries continue to appear in worn-out clothing.

To err is human

To err is human but, as Jackie Winchester can now testify, it takes a computer to really foul things up.

Mrs. Winchester is Palm Beach County's supervisor of elections, a post she may be wishing heartily by now she'd never heard of.

Mrs. Winchester is also the person who recommended to the county commission three years ago that they authorize the purchase of an all-new computer voting system for county use, a system called Votomatic... something else she may be wishing heartily she'd never heard of.

With three computers on hand to do the job of counting ballot cards of Tuesday's election, election officials were able to count 31 of 213 county precincts before they finally gave up and went home at 3:30 a.m. Wednesday with only 14 percent of the county's vote tabulated.

The Votomatic system has given problems since Mrs. Winchester instituted it in 1977 and apparently shows no signs of improvement but what is even more disturbing was to hear her say that she's heard that two other counties in the state that have instituted the same system, Pasco and Lee, have both reported similar problems with their equipment.

At the time this is being written, Mrs. Winchester and her staff are still attempting to finish the tabulation, a job that is still not expected to be complete until at least 24 hours after the polls closed at 7 p.m. Tuesday.

At their worst, the results of lever machine elections were known only a few hours after the polls closed. It's highly probable paper ballots such as those in use before the lever machines could have been tabulated quicker.

A 24-hour delay in getting the results of an election in the county is unconscionable and the only saving grace is that Mrs. Winchester has already publicly said she is going to mount an investigation as soon as the results are completed.

Computer voting may be the wave of the future but if Palm Beach County is going to ride that wave, it may have to fine a new surfboard.

Get 'em, Chiles

With an inflation rate approaching 20 percent, it's getting to the point one's mind is numbed to tales of rising costs but Senator Lawton Chiles' latest report should be able to jar even the most inured brains around.

Chiles, along with Sen. David Pryor of Arkansas, introduced a bill Monday to cut the spending of taxpayers' money on former presidents and the mind boggler came in Chiles' explanation that the cost has risen from $64,000 in 1955 to $18.3 million this year... and that price apparently doesn't even cover their pensions.

The number of former presidents still alive hasn't changed by the way. In 1955, it was Herbert Hoover and the recently retired Harry Truman. Today, it's Richard Nixon and Gerald Ford.

The legislation would create a central Presidential Library, putting an end to separate, government-funded presidential libraries scattered around the country, would put a cap of $300,000 a year on office allowance for former presidents and limit the use of government funds to compile memoirs unless the profits go into the treasury.

It would also raise the pensions for surviving spouses from the current $20,000 a year to an amount equal to two-thirds of the pension for former presidents. Nixon and Ford are now pensioned off to the tune of $69,630 a year.

Chiles is right when he says the office of the presidency is important and it wouldn't be in the best interests of the nation to demean it by cutting retirees from the oval office to nothing but it's hard to swallow the idea that $18 million-plus is little or nothing.

Even in this day and time, a million here, a million there, it all adds up.

And what we're now spending on two former presidents, to put the amount in perspective, would provide 5,800 retirees with the maximum payments anyone could expect under Social Security, which is $553.30 a month.

Go get 'em, Lawton. This is one bill that badly needs passing.

Dave's is now Fashionmark

BELLE GLADE—An Avenue landmark changed its image and name Monday and Bernie Lee, owner of Dave's Palm Beach Shop, said his merger with Fashionmark, Inc. of Riviera Beach should benefit shoppers in the Glades.

Dave's Palm Beach Shop has occupied the same quarters for the past 33 years but the merger Monday included renaming the familiar clothing store to Fashionmark.

Lee and his new partner, Bob Terwilliger, said the new partnership will allow them to buy in larger volume and sell at lower prices than either store could hope to do alone.

Part of the new look will be the addition of the Fashionmark line of clothing Terwilliger has sold from the Riviera Beach store for years. A Miami native, Terwilliger will be bringing 14 years of retail experience to the partnership. He has owned Fashionmark for five years. Besides the lower prices they expect, Lee and Terwilliger said the larger volume of buying they'll be doing will enable them to offer more styles and sizes than either have been able to sell as individual stores.

The larger selection, they said, should allow Glades residents to avoid the drive to West Palm Beach, saving them time, money and inconvenience. In a joint statement, the two partners said they would also continue to provide the same quality their customers have grown accustomed to buying in both men's and women's fashions.

Mrs. Blash said one of the reasons the drive will succeed is the benefit barbeque last Friday and Saturday at Jody's Restaurant in South Bay.

"We want to thank everyone who came to the barbeque last weekend," she said, "and special thanks to those who were patient during the rush hour. For those who were unable to be served either last Friday or Saturday, Jody's will honor the barbeque tickets through Saturday."

The Afghanistan issue shows that President Carter lacks ability to exercise any leadership of the free world in case of crisis. His failure to check the Russian aggression is scandalous, especially for the reason that Afghanistan did not belong to the countries of the sphere of influence of the Soviet Union.

The Russian communist leaders cannot care less about Carter's appeal to the opinion of the world and any resolutions passed by the United Nations. City to help find funds for GCHS band uniforms

BELLE GLADE—Refusing to make a definite commitment, the city commission reversed its earlier stance and decided Monday night to attempt to help Glades Central band find funds to buy new uniforms.

After a presentation by Glades Central Band Director Willie Pyfrom, the commissioners directed the administrator to see what funds it could find to donate towards the goal of $30,000 the band needs for a re-suiting.

Pyfrom had made a similar request previous to budget sessions last year but the commission was solidly against the idea at that time, taking the line supplying uniforms for a school band wasn't part of the city's business or obligation.

Monday night, Mayor Ralph Kirk echoed that sentiment after Pyfrom's initial presentation, saying the city had never contributed in the past, "and I don't see the need or the obligation now. We have three schools in town and they all have bands."

"I firmly believe," Pyfrom had said, "that the Glades Central High School band is the Belle Glade city band."

Commissioner Randy Davidson, who was elected after last year's budget sessions, said, "I can't forget the Chamber of Commerce dedication, the city hall groundbreaking and dedication, last year's Black Gold Jubilee and the 50th Anniversary the year before, the Glades Central band was always there. I think we should consider it."

Davidson was joined by Commissioner Dorothy Walker, who said she would like to see the city consider one of two motions, either to direct the administration to see what funds are available or to donate $5,000 to the fund drive. Commissioner Tom Altman, who vehemently opposed the request last year turned out to be the swing vote.

"I've been opposed to direct contributions for the past three years," he told Pyfrom, "but you know I've supported the band. I've changed my mind now, though."

Altman said he would support Miss Walker's first motion but not her second. He said he thought $5,000 would be too large a figure for the city to donate at this time.

Altman also asked Pyfrom whether he had attempted to find some way the city could help him raise funds, rather than make a direct contribution, and whether the school board had been approached for help.

Pyfrom said he hadn't attempted to find ways the city could help but that he has talked to School Superintendent Tom Mills but that Mills "doesn't want to open that can of worms." He said only two counties in the state help fund new uniforms.

He pointed out also that the band hasn't been simply asking for donations, that there have been a number of projects and $6,000 of the $30,000 has already been raised, with $600 being raised by a concert last week.

Commissioner Walker made the motion to direct the administration to see what funds can be found, pointing out the commissioners ought to consider the problem inflation has caused.

After the motion passed, the commission also passed a motion by Commissioner Davidson to ask the school board to supply making funds.

In other action, the commission: • Authorized City Planner to go to press with the city's annual report. The report is being printed at Lakeshore Press in Pahokee and will be distributed as an insert in the Lake Leader on March 25. The report is being dedicated to employees who have served the city more than 20 years.

• Passed a resolution honoring Streets Department employee Garland Keller, who recently died of cancer after 29 years of employment with the city.

Happy Birthday!

Vivian Espinoza, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isidoro (Velma) Espinoza, Jr., granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jose Figueroa and Mr. and Mrs. Isidoro Espinoza, Sr. She will be one year old on March 19. She will be given a party by her grandparents and her aunt, Nora Figueroa. It will be celebrated on Sunday, March 16 in South Bay.

Did you know that the mature sweet corn plant always has an odd number of leaves (7 to 13) whereas the ears always have an even number of rows of kernels, ranging from 14 to 22?

At harvest, each plant usually produces only one marketable ear of corn. When yellow corn is planted adjacent to white corn, cross pollination may occur by wind blowing the pollen from one field to the other. When this occurs, the two types of corn lose some of their good eating qualities as the kernels revert to a starchy type.

Sweet corn is attacked by at least 16 species of insects, five bacterial diseases and six kinds of nematodes. And finally, did you know there are more than half a dozen different varieties of sweet corn grown in the Glades area?

Sweet corn is one of the top three vegetables grown in the Glades and is also one of the top three vegetables grown in Florida.

In 1978-79, it accounted for $51,423,000 in Florida's vegetable production. In 1977-78, production was $49,238,000. In the Glades for 1978-79, sweet corn brought in $21,605,492. This is 42 per cent of the total amount grown for the whole state of Florida.

It is noteworthy that the production of crates per acre hasn't increased. In 1977-78, production was 224 crates per acre and in 1978-79, it was 222 crates per acre. This is unusual since most of our previous articles on agriculture showed increases in productivity. Reduced production in recent years has been due to water damage to young sweet corn and increased stress from Southern corn leaf blight, according to local sources of information.

In summary, we see that sweet corn contributes $51 million to Florida's economy. It is one of the big three in Florida's vegetable production.

Church men establish paper dump for scouts

THE FIRST LOAD of paper to go into a large box, sponsored by the men of the Community United Methodist Church in

BELLE GLADE—Glades residents who'd like to know they're doing more with their old newspapers than creating a trash problem at the same time they're lending area scouts a hand now have a chance to do something about it by bringing their old papers to a dump point at Community United Methodist Church.

Gene Hollingsworth, president of the church Men's Club, was on hand when the 20-ton capacity box was dropped last week in a church-owned vacant lot at South Main Street and Southwest Avenue D. The green-painted steel box resembles a dumpster and Hollingsworth said when it's full, a truck will back up to it, lift it and take it to West Palm Beach, where the paper will enter a re-cycling chain to be eventually reclaimed and used again.

The box is located in the southeast corner of the lot, next to an alley behind the church. To deposit papers, one has only to drive into the lot or through the alleyway, open the door at that end of the box, walk in and drop them.

"The papers don't have to be banded," Hollingsworth said. "They can be just brought in and dumped at the far end of the box. The only thing is that the company will only accept newsprint, not cardboard or coated paper like magazines.

There is a handle used to open the door, located on the side of the box next to a hedge, but Hollingsworth said the door will probably be left ajar until it gets almost full.

Hollingsworth said he has been told 14 tons of newspapers come into the Glades every week so if there is even a moderate amount of cooperation from area residents, the box could be filled up once a month or more often.

He said he has been told by Twin

City Waste, Inc., which owns the box and will buy the paper, the going price for newsprint would net area scouts about $100 every time a load is carted away.

At this time, there is only the box in the empty lot as a collection point but Hollingsworth said eventually he hopes to get the scouts involved in collecting papers, possibly setting up dispersed collection points throughout the Glades and having the scouts come up with a catchy name for the box.

Christian Day School wins first 2 games of baseball year

BELLE GLADE—The Christian Day School baseball team won its first two baseball games this year, the first against LaBelle on Friday by a score of 7-3 and the second a 14-6 thrashing of Palm Vista in Fort Pierce.

Coach Gus Harmon said Kene Davis and Alex Morales combined in the Palm Vista game for a no-hitter, with Davis pitching the first three innings and Morales acting as a relief pitcher for the last four.

"They played heads up ball," Harmon said, "and I was pleased with the way they were swinging the bat, although I was a little disappointed in the number of walks. There were about 12 or 13 of those."

Harmon said the leading runners against Palm Vista were Morales with one single, a double and four runs batted in, and William Cruz with two triples. He said there were only two field errors.

Against LaBelle, Morales and William Cruz were the pitchers. Each gave up one hit and they struck out eight batters.

As hitters, Morales made one single and a double while Cruz slammed in a triple and a single. Juan Armas got one hit and three RBIs. There was only one field error given up by the Crusaders. Harmon said the Crusaders were supposed to have played Evangelical of Fort Myers Saturday but the game was postponed. They were supposed to have played Indian River Academy this Saturday but they have also cancelled out.

Their next game is against Moore Haven today and their next scheduled game is against Summit Christian at 4 p.m. Monday.

Pahokee's Bill Pierce:

Planning ahead for old age

By AILSA DEWING

PAHOKEE—Heading into his 80's, Bill Pierce is giving some thought to his future.

He doesn't profess to have much faith in the nation's economy and he predicts that within a few years "old age will begin to advance" on him.

To prove his point, Bill doffs his mechanic's visored cap and point's to a thick thatch of white hair: "You'll notice I'm getting a little gray around the temples," he says. His weather-tanned face doesn't appear to have added a wrinkle since he was 50.

But about Bill Pierce's future. It's not something he has to worry about immediately since he still does a good day's work at his machine shop.

Pierce's machine shop is an assortment of Rube Goldberg inventions—but not to be scoffed at. He claims to be able to work within one-millionth of an inch tolerance on a tooling machine, parts of which include an old water meter and a broken hand mirror.

With one hand he picks up an 18-inch diameter steel flange from the ground. It's custom made for a pump and line company, Pierce being the sole supplier after having discovered how to fabricate it from cold steel.

In the Glades area Bill Pierce is known as a mechanical genius. "I was born a mechanic," he explains, adding that he was a bit of a disappointment to his parents who wanted him to become an attorney.

Born in Uniontown, Pa., Pierce comes from Quaker stock and says he's never touched tobacco or alcohol in his life. The eldest of 10 children, he never finished school.

If Pierce views the economy with misgivings, ("bankers are never right about nothing"), he has good reason. In 1929 he was a millionaire who was wiped out in the crash. He recalls that at the time he had 31 old cars -- $250,000 in Stutz roadsters -- and he broke them up to sell them for the brass.

That was the year after he'd ridden across the U.S. -- from New York City to Los Angeles, with a sidetrip to Mexico City, on a velocipede and just before he drove seven old ladies from Ohio to Miami in order to get to Florida.

Pierce still owns the nineteenth century velocipede and the newspaper clipping with his photo announcing the start of the bicycle trip "to advertise Akron's position in the industrial world as a rubber center."

En route he stopped in Washington, D.C., to present a gift to President Herbert Hoover, of a check signed by President William McKinley, when he lived in Canton, Ohio.

Pierce's account of his trip to Florida, as chauffeur for seven women, isn't documented but it makes for good listening. Three days after delivering his passengers to Miami, Pierce says he was arrested for vagrancy.

Fabricating metal products and rebuilding car engines are Bill Pierce's daily occupation as he contemplates the probability of old age advancing on him in a few years.

"Vagrants weren't welcome in Florida in those days. The cops would beat you up and take you to the county line where there'd be another bunch waiting for you."

To get out of his predicament, Pierce says he grumbled to the police that "a damned cracker can't even come into town," and his bluff worked.

A few days later he helped some boys fix their broken-down car and accepted a ride to Clewiston. "I wanted to see where it was I came from," Pierce, the newly-proclaimed cracker, says.

Pierce arrived in Clewiston so broke, he says "that Monday breakfast didn't arrive 'til Thursday afternoon." He found a potato and an old tin can and borrowed a blow torch to "bake" the potato -- the first food he'd had in three days.

His first job in the Glades area was in Belle Glade working as a mechanic for Lawrence E. Will. By 1935 he was in business for himself as Bill's Auto Service, later setting up a machine shop where his inventiveness turned toward adapting and redesigning farm equipment for use on muckland.

And would lead to the invention of the Pierce process, which during the late 1950s promised to make the fortune, not only of Bill Pierce but the whole state of Florida, as the ramie capital of the world.

Ramie is a fiber plant known to have existed for centuries. It reputedly has been found in wrappings of Egyptian mummies and may have been named for one of the ancient Egyptian rulers of the Ramessid dynasty.

Woven into fabric, ramie is durable, mildew resistant, shrink-proof, soft and pliable, -- usable for everything from fire hose and canvas shoes to ladies' undergarments.

Years of experimentation at the Agricultural Research and Education Center showed ramie to be an ideal Glades area summer crop. [Continued on Page 9]

A parlor organ, circa 1865, once more sounds its reedy song, rebuilt with hand-fashioned parts during Bill Pierce's leisure hours.

If I had been offered baked lobster and boiled cauliflower Sunday night, I would have had to decline with a "no, thank you, I've already had enough of that!"

My sister-in-law suggested Sunday morning that we all head over to the beach for the day and take a picnic lunch. So, after much debating over yes we'll go (from the kids) to no we won't (from mom), majority rules and we packed up and headed out for some fun in the sun.

If I'd had a lick of sense I'd of stayed home. (I wish I had a quarter for every time I've said that). The traffic was horrendous and parking spots were as scarce as hens teeth. We finally found a parking spot in, you guessed it, a place where we weren't suppose to park.

"You're gonna get a ticket," I said. "Nah," was the reply. We had hardly settled down good when my son came tugging at my arm to say, "Mom, we got a ticket." Oh, well too late now, might as well settle down for a good tan while we were there.

It was so relaxing that somewhere along the line I went to sleep. When I woke I was feeling just as baked lobster must feel after a couple of hours over the fire. I was cooked.

FROM THE GRAPEVINE

By BRENDA BUNTING

By the time we got back to the car, no one was in too good a mood and there was the five dollar parking ticket staring us in the face. The only redeeming moment was when we saw that everyone around us had similar tickets on their cars.

Misery loves company they say. When a guy walked up to us about that time and asked "Did you get one of these tickets?", Bob could only say "Sure did, because unbeknownst to the gentleman talking, the cop was standing right behind him.

He he noticed that we were looking slightly past him, he turned around and sheepishly said, "You sure are working fast, aren't ya?" to the cop. "Sure am," came the reply, and he went right on walking and a writing those tickets.

When we finally got home and I had brushed the sand out of my teeth, my neighbor called saying she had been trying to get ahold of me all day to tell me that one of the farms had cauliflower that they had turned loose for picking and that it was going to be plowed up the following day, she thought.

So, nothing doing, but we had to pile our sunburned bodies back into the car and head for the cauliflower patch.

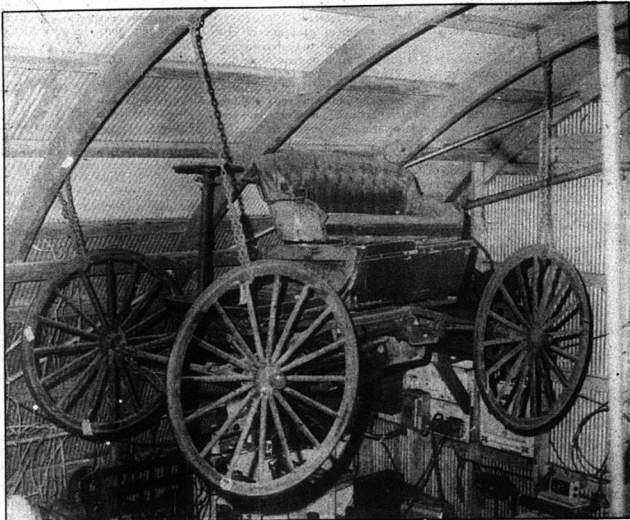

You've heard the expression "eyes too big for their stomach" haven't you? Well, just the thought of all that cauliflower being plowed under the next day caused us to go a little bit overboard. (A little bit, my eye!) We managed to stagger away from there with a garbage bag and two grocery sacks full.

I was up till 11 p.m. that night boiling cauliflower and putting it in the freezer.

By the time it was time to go to bed, my back was burning from the sun and my feet were aching from standing up putting up cauliflower.

That was a Sunday I should've done like the preacher said, and spent the day in church.

Some people never learn.

The chassis, wheels, and seat of a 1900 Sears Auto-Bug hang suspended from the roof of Pierce's machine shop. Sometime in the future he plans to locate the scattered fittings and retool the parts that could put it back on the road.

Taking it From the Top

By REV. DAVID T. EVANS
Everglades Presbyterian Church

Today is Sunday. Your writer has taught an adult Sunday School Class on the place of Judas in the Gospel and preached a sermon on "The Church That Is to Be Faithful Unto Death," based on Revelation 2:8-11 and told a story to the children during the worship service.

Now after a short rest he is beginning a weekly column for the Herald-Observer. Only a few hours ago the Sunday morning sermon was the focus of interest. When this column is written and typed for delivery to the newspaper office, work will begin on the sermon for next week, the fourth Sunday in Lent, "The Church to Be Praised and Blamed."

Another week has begun as soon as the previous one was completed. During the past week a Bible study was prepared and given. A lecture on the Book of Acts was researched and given at the Junior College. In addition three sessions of continuing education were presented at the county jail. Each week is busy with teaching, preaching, and visiting the hospitals here in Belle Glade, Pahokee, and West Palm.

There are pastoral visits to the sick and shut-ins, answering mail for the Presbytery office in Miami, ordering literature from Atlanta, calling on prospective members and caring for the needs of transients.

In nearly every week there are some details which must be cared for. This week the post office rental was found to be due, and a check had to be delivered to the post office. Just write a check? No, not in a church. The treasurer must be contacted and the check written and then taken to another office to get an additional signature.

A transient (nearly always out of work and broke) came by this week. This took supervising work at the church and finding a sleeping place and securing meals. (Not many places to eat here in Belle Glade).

Finally the pastor must find time to eat, sleep, etc., for himself and to be with his family. This is a vitally important. The church work must go on. The community work must go on. The family, especially a wife, needs care and concern. The pastor also needs time to study and refresh himself.

Not mentioned are the endless committee meetings which are so much a part of the pastor's life. Committee meetings are vital but most are too long. Some one has well said, "Hell will be one continuous committee meeting."

This column is not an apology but an explanation of why the pastor didn't make that call this week. He will make it right after he makes out his income tax form for the year which he has been putting off since January 1st.

Not to be overlooked is the time for morning prayer in order to get started right each day. Amen.

Spanish witnesses to convene

BELLE GLADE--Some 50 members of the Los Campos congregation, Spanish-speaking members of the local Witnesses of Jehovah will attend a two-day convention this weekend in Ft. Lauderdale, according to Jose Torres.

Sessions will be conducted in Spanish Saturday and Sunday at the Boyd Anderson School, 3040 NW 41 St. Theme of the convention is, "Being Grateful to God Through Our Obedience."

According to Torres, leader of the Los Campos congregation, the purpose of the conventions is to familiarize delegates with Bible principles so they can help themselves and others of the community.

Torres said the public is welcome to attend the convention, expected to draw delegates from West Palm Beach to Ft. Lauderdale. This is the first of three such conventions to be held during the year.

The local congregation meets at the Kingdom Hall, 1648 S.E. Avenue G.

Sex assault seminar March 27

BELLE GLADE--A seminar to promote awareness of sexual assaults, how and why they occur and what can be done to prevent them will be held at 7 p.m. March 27 at the Palm Beach Junior College-Glades campus in Room SC-103.

The workshop will be sponsored by the PBJC Continuing Education and Sexual Assault Assistance Project and will be conducted by a member of the Project and a local law enforcement officer.

Some of the facts to be addressed are that sexual assault (rape) is committed on females from under one year old to over 90, as well as on males, particularly the younger males. Most rape victims know their assailant. Many sexual assaults occur in the home of the victim or assailant. The largest number of sexual assaults are reported during weekends. However, there is a significant number occurring during the weekdays. Rapes are more likely to occur during the summer months than during the winter.

The two-hour program is also designed to give an understanding of the definition of rape according to Florida law (Who is the victim? Who is the offender?); a knowledge of preventative measures and alternative tactics to use if attacked and an awareness of where to turn for post-assault assistance emphasizing community agencies available to help victims and their families.

There is no fee for the course but those interested in taking it should register in advance at the college.

"Visit your aunt, but not every day; and call at your brother's, but not every night."

Q. I am interested in saving energy and money in my garden area. Do you have some suggestions as to how I can do this?

A. A modern energy saving garden closely resembles an old-fashioned, organic garden.

Most home gardens save energy (and money) by eliminating commercial processing, transportation and marketing from food production. However, by adopting certain practices—largely old-fashioned ones—you can make your garden a true energy saver.

You can use any or all of the following practices to cut down the cost of gardening.

- Use organic fertilizers made from composted plant and animal matter instead of synthetic fertilizers. Ammonia, which supplies the nitrogen component in synthetic fertilizers, requires large quantities of natural gas for its manufacture. Not only do organic fertilizers save energy, they also buffer the soil and improve its texture and ability to hold water.

Plan your garden carefully. Foresight is especially important for an energy efficient garden. For example, a compost pile must "ripen" at least several months before it can provide good fertilizer.

- Reduce pesticide use. Expose the soil to air before planting, routinely handpick insects if their numbers are small, and don't use pesticides unless a lot of damage occurs.

Use biological or mechanical controls wherever possible. For example, control weeds by cultivating and hoeing.

USCG AUXILIARY MEETING

Will there be a Mel Tillis in at the Prince Theatre opening?

PAHOKEE—Is there another Mel Tillis around the Glades whose talents may be revealed at the Spring Fever Review, the gala opening of the Prince Theatre April 11 and 12?

This is the question being asked by the Prince Theatre Committee in reminding Glades area residents that Tillis got his start at a talent show held at the Prince Theatre and became the local boy who made good as a recording artist and song writer.

Performers are already in rehearsal for the two-hour talent show that will be presented on two consecutive nights, April 11 and 12.

Pink tickets are being sold for the Friday performance and yellow tickets for Saturdays. Admission is $5 and tickets are not interchangeable, the committee warns.

Only 400 will be seated each night and no one can be admitted without a ticket. There will be no standing room by order of the fire department in accordance with fire laws.

Tickets for the Friday night performance are almost gone, the committee advises. To obtain tickets, contact Julia Wilkinson at 924-7722 or Ann Johnson, 924-7022.

The challenge was to extract the fibers from their tough, gummy sheath in untangled strands, a process still done by hand where cheap labor is available.

In the mid 50s, Pierce perfected his invention of a machine to free the ramie fiber using ultrasonic vibration.

The bandwagon was revved up and by 1957 the whole state was reacting with an enthusiasm equal to the discovery of an oil field, as old newspaper clippings retained by Pierce show.

There are many explanations to the sudden collapse of the ramie dream including the fact that it couldn't be grown and processed in sufficient quantity to keep the large industrial users supplied -- the reason Pierce espouses.

Although the success of ramie would have guaranteed the future of Pierce, among others, he says he has no regrets over the outcome.

"I'm glad it fell through. It would have been a lot of responsibility," says Pierce. "Now I can get up in the morning with nothing and go to bed the same way."

Before getting back to Bill Pierce's future, one needs to take another glimpse at his past: the great race, or more accurately, the two great races.

In 1939 and again in 1940, Bill Pierce and a Dr. George Young of Minneapolis, staged a race along seven blocks of Miami's Biscayne Blvd. Both times, Pierce pitted his 1900 Sears Auto-Bug against Young's 1896 horseless buggy of no known pedigree, and won, reaching speeds up to 25 miles per hour.

After that, Pierce retired his title and the ancient buggy which had seen over 100,000 miles of service on a rural mail delivery route before he acquired it from his grandfather.

Pierce still has the newspaper touting the great races. And he still has the Auto-bug, dismantled and its parts scattered about.

One of these days Pierce intends to rebuild the vintage car and another circa 1900 horseless carriage he's kept.

One reason he doesn't get around to it is his current penchant for rebuilding old organs. Although no musician himself, Pierce enjoys refurbishing organs, hand fashioning from pieces of ash and white oak the missing parts.

To date he has put back into operation and 1865 parlor organ and an eighteenth century melodion which once had a counterpart in George Washington's parlor at Mount Vernon.

Maybe after that, Pierce will get around to thinking about his future.

Meanwhile, a friend of Pierce's Dale Allen of Pahokee, believes Bill could prepare for old age, whenever it comes, by putting his collectibles into shape and taking them on tour -- a job Allen is quite willing to help with.

Bill Pierce is willing to consider the possibility. After all, at 80, one should begin planning for old age.

Taking it From the Top

By REV. DAVID T. EVANS
Everglades Presbyterian Church

Today is Sunday. Your writer has taught an adult Sunday School Class on the place of Judas in the Gospel and preached a sermon on "The Church That Is to Be Faithful Unto Death," based on Revelation 2:8-11 and told a story to the children during the worship service.

Now after a short rest he is beginning a weekly column for the Herald-Observer. Only a few hours ago the Sunday morning sermon was the focus of interest. When this column is written and typed for delivery to the newspaper office, work will begin on the sermon for next week, the fourth Sunday in Lent, "The Church to Be Praised and Blamed."

Another week has begun as soon as the previous one was completed. During the past week a Bible study was prepared and given. A lecture on the Book of Acts was researched and given at the Junior College. In addition three sessions of continuing education were presented at the county jail. Each week is busy with teaching, preaching, and visiting the hospitals here in Belle Glade, Pahokee, and West Palm.

There are pastoral visits to the sick and shut-ins, answering mail for the Presbytery office in Miami, ordering literature from Atlanta, calling on prospective members and caring for the needs of transients.

In nearly every week there are some details which must be cared for. This week the post office rental was found to be due and a check had to be delivered to the post office. Just write a check? No, not in a church. The treasurer must be contacted and the check written and then taken to another officer to get an additional signature.

A transient, nearly always out of work and broke came by this week. This took supervising work at the church and finding a sleeping place and securing meals. (Not many places to eat here in Belle Glade).

Finally the pastor must find time to eat, sleep, etc., for himself and to be with his family. This is a vitally important. The church work must go on. The community work must go on. The family, especially a wife, needs care and concern. The pastor also needs time to study and refresh himself.

Not mentioned are the endless committee meetings which are so much a part of the pastor's life. Committee meetings are vital but most are too long. Some one has well said, "Hell will be one continuous committee meeting."

This column is not an apology, but an explanation of why the pastor didn't make that call this week. He will make it right after he makes out his income tax form for the year which he has been putting off since January 1st.

Not to be overlooked is the time for morning prayer in order to get started right each day. Amen.

Torres said the public is welcome to attend the convention, expected to draw delegates from West Palm Beach to Ft. Lauderdale. This is the first of three such conventions to be held during the year.

The local congregation meets at the Kingdom Hall, 1648 S.E. Avenue G.

Sex assault seminar March 27

BELLE GLADE--A seminar to promote awareness of sexual assaults, how and why they occur and what can be done to prevent them will be held at 7 p.m. March 27 at the Palm Beach Junior College-Glades campus in Room SC-103.

The workshop will be sponsored by the PBJC Continuing Education and Sexual Assault Assistance Project and will be conducted by a member of the Project and a local law enforcement officer.

Some of the facts to be addressed are that sexual assault (rape) is committed on females from under one year old to over 90, as well as on males, particularly the younger males. Most rape victims know their assailant. Many sexual assaults occur in the home of the victim or assailant. The largest number of sexual assaults are reported during weekends. However, there is a significant number occurring during the weekdays. Rapes are more likely to occur during the summer months than during the winter.

The two-hour program is also designed to give an understanding of the definition of rape according to Florida law (Who is the victim? Who is the offender?); a knowledge of preventative measures and alternative tactics to use if attacked and an awareness of where to turn for post-assault assistance emphasizing community agencies available to help victims and their families.

There is no fee for the course but those interested in taking it should register in advance at the college.

Bill Pierce is willing to consider the possibility. After all, at 80, one should begin planning for old age.

Will there be a Mel Tillis in at the Prince Theatre opening?

PAHOKEE—Is there another Mel Tillis around the Glades whose talents may be revealed at the Spring Fever Review, the gala opening of the Prince Theatre April 11 and 12?

This is the question being asked by the Prince Theatre Committee in reminding Glades area residents that Tillis got his start at a talent show held at the Prince Theatre and became the local boy who made good as a recording artist and song writer.

Performers are already in rehearsal for the two-hour talent show that will be presented on two consecutive nights, April 11 and 12.

Pink tickets are being sold for the Friday performance and yellow tickets for Saturdays. Admission is $5 and tickets are not interchangeable, the committee warns.

Only 400 will be seated each night and no one can be admitted without a ticket. There will be no standing room by order of the fire department in accordance with fire laws.

Tickets for the Friday night performance are almost gone, the committee advises. To obtain tickets, contact Julia Wilkinson at 924-7722 or Ann Johnson, 924-7022.

BEST C.A.F.E.

Ford has the best Corporate Average Fuel Economy of any major U.S. car maker. C.A.F.E. is the government's measure of auto companies' progress in gas mileage each year. It is an average using the EPA rating system and projected 1980 total model year car sales mix as submitted to the U.S. government in December, 1979.

Only Ford among the major U.S. companies ranks first on this basis.

Remember, C.A.F.E. is an average, so consult EPA ratings for individual car's mileage.

*1980 EPA ratings for comparison. Your mileage may differ depending on speed, distance and weather. Actual highway mileage will probably be lower.

GOOD YEAR

TIRE CENTERS

"Melbourne was the best team we met all year," coach Steve Cohen said. "They jumped out to a 14 point lead in the first quarter but we were able to close it to three points by the half."

The Lady Raiders went ahead of Melbourne with 17 seconds left in the game, leading Melbourne by a slim 52-51 lead when two free throws by Melbourne center Angie Hollis tipped the score in the other direction, 52-53.

The Glades Central team was able to bring the ball back down to their end of the court and Cynthia Harrell took "a nice little shot" with five seconds on the clock that didn't go in.

Cohen said there was a wild scramble for the rebound, which was made by the Lady Raiders. Then, he called time to stop the clock long enough to steady down his team. Glades Central managed to get the ball back in play and Cynthia Harrell took one more shot, "that looked good but just didn't go in."

"It was a very exciting game," Cohen said. "We closed the gap several times and the girls didn't quit." He noted that Linda Joy Burroughs again led the scoring with 29 points.

The Lady Raiders had earlier defeated Gainesville Buchholz in the semi-final state game on Thursday. All the state playoffs were held at Winter Park High School in Winter Park.

"You have to be satisfied with a 25-1 record," Cohen said of the season. "I was really proud of the way the girls handled themselves all year. When you're one point away from winning the final game of the year, a perfect record and state championship, you've had a good season."

With their prospects of retaining all but one, or possibly two, of his starters, Cohen and the Lady Raiders have a chance of repeating or even bettering this year's record next year.

The only senior he'll definitely lose through graduation this year is Sheila Ashley but there is a possibility, he said, that he'll also lose Cynthia Harrell, who is a junior but has enough credits she could graduate early next school term.

The Lady Raiders played the state tournament without the services of Mary West, a starter all year who gave birth to a baby last Monday after school had been let out for the day.

Cohen said he'd had no idea that Miss West was pregnant, particularly since she'd gone to a doctor three weeks previously after someone else had said something, and she had returned with a note saying a pregnancy test had been negative. She'd played in the regional championship game against Hialeah last Friday.

Scoring in the state championship, besides the 29 points scored by Miss Burroughs, was by Cynthia Harrell with 14 points, Jessica Hansford with five points and Sheila Ashley with four.

Gator netters win 3, lose 1

BELLE GLADE—The Glades Day School girls tennis team extended their season record to 6-1 last week with two more wins while the boys lost one match, 0-7, then reversed that record two days later with a 7-0 win.

The girls edged Martin County Mar. 4 with a 4-3 win, then beat Kings Academy, 6-1 on Mar. 6.

The boys lost to Martin County, 0-7 and beat Kings Academy, 7-0 on Mar. 6.

In the Martin County girls matches, Felissa Orduna won her singles, 6-2, 6-3; Monica Hooker lost a close one, 3-6, 6-2, 7-5; Cheryl Hooker won her match, 6-1, 6-0; Deirdre Orduna won, 7-5, 6-3 and Debbie Dulaney lost, 6-1, 6-2.

In doubles, the Orduna sisters lost, 8-4 and the Hooker sisters won, 8-4.

Coch Rita Schoenfeld said this was the first time Glades Day had defeated Martin County in girls' tennis. "All the girls," she said, "played extremely well."

Against Kings Academy, all the girls won their singles matches, with Felissa Orduna winning, 6-3, 6-2; Monica Hooker winning, 7-5, 6-6.

3; Cheryl Hooker winning, 6-0, 6-1; Deirdre Orduna winning, 6-0, 6-1 and Debbie Dulaney winning, 6-3, 6-0.

"I was able to give my whole team a chance to play," Miss Schoenfeld said. "My regular doubles didn't play. I used two eighth graders in my number two doubles."

Felissa Orduna and Claire Pope lost their doubles match, 8-2 and Debbie Deirdre Orduna and Debbie Dulaney won their doubles match, 8-2.

Martin County made a clean sweep in boys play, winning all five singles matches and both doubles.

Against Kings Academy, the boys turned the tables and made their own sweep. In that match, Philip Dulaney won, 6-0, 6-4; Tom Wilson won, 7-6, 6-3; Al Loret de Mola won, 7-6, 6-2; Ralph Garcia won, 6-1, 6-0 and Jason Orduna won, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4.

In doubles, Dulaney-Chuck Lane won, 8-0 and Wilson-Garcia won 8-2. The boys now have a 500 4-4 season.

Car wash at St. Johns

BELLE GLADE—The men of the St. John's First Baptist Church will hold a car wash from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday as part of the church Men's Day program which will take place the following day.

Willie McDonald and Henry

Miller are chairing the event, which will take place at the church at Southwest Avenue/E and South-west 10th Street. The car wash was supposed to have taken place a week ago but was rained out. The men are charging $3 to wash each car, inside and out.

Raider boy, girl thinclad teams come in third

BELLE GLADE—The Glades Central boys track team opened its season Friday with two first place wins to place third in a field of 14 schools participating in the Dillard Relays in Fort Lauderdale.

Coach Willie McDonald said the only two schools to garner more points than the Raiders were Class AAAA. The Raiders collected 40 points, partly on a first place win by Charles Miller in the shotput and another win by Wilford Morgan in the long jump.

Miller, chosen to the 1979 All-American High School Track Team, hurled the iron ball 50'10". Morgan also broke a school record in the high jump, placing second by clearing the bar at 6'8".

McDonald said Morgan cleared

6'10" with his body but a dropped heel carried the bar off the pegs. Morgan's jump erased the old Glades Central record set at 6'6" by David Jones. McDonald said he believes Morgan will clear seven feet before the end of the year.

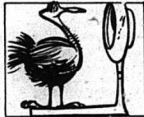

Miller won Glades Central's only other non-running points by placing fifth in the discus, throwing the disc 130'5".

The Raiders placed second in the two mile relay team with a time of 8:57.6. Making up the team were Reginald Greenwich, Jeffrey Woodson, Levell Morsland and Keith Seymore.

Raymond McDonald was third in the 100 yard dash with a time of 10.0.

The 440 yard relay team and the mile medley relay team both placed fourth. The 440 time of 44.1 seconds was set by Arthur Monroe, Eddie Lusane, Ramondo McDonald and Jessie Hester. The mile time of 3:49.3 was set by McDonald, Hester, Theodis Paulk and Emanuel Thornton.

The ostrich, largest of living birds, weighs 300 pounds or more.

BELLE GLADE—The Glades Central girls track team placed third in the Dillard Relays in Fort Lauderdale Saturday by scoring 39 points. Only two of the other 11 teams were Class AAAA. The rest were Class AAAA.

Coach Jay Seider said Carmen

Crawford was second in the 100 yard dash with a time of 11.1 seconds and Sheila Nix was second in the shotput with a distance of 38'7". Brenda Burton was fifth in the shot event with a distance of 33'9".

The 880 yard relay team placed second with a time of 1:48.6. The team members were Carla Redwood, Sophie Dukes, Debra Wilson and Carmen Crawford.

Sheila Nix placed third in the discus throw with a distance of 101'6". Barbara Bostick was third in the long jump with a distance of 16'5", followed by Carmen Crawford at 16'4".

The 440 yard relay team won third place with a time of 51.0 seconds. The team is made up of Barbara Bostick, Carla Redwood, Sophie Dukes and Carmen Crawford.

In a new event, the Raiders placed fifth in the shuttle hurdle relay with a time of 1:16. In this event, each girl on the team 110 yard while jumping hurdles. The team is made up of Debra Wilson, Carol Faust, Rosalyn Green and Sophie Dukes.
